

Climate Hour

Climate crisis basics and COP26

Climate Hour launches on 30 November 2021 with an interactive session on the climate crisis and COP26. This session is for students and anyone who wants to understand more about climate policy and climate action. It will be divided into two parts. The first will be a brief introductory session explaining the frequently used terminology on the climate crisis. This will be followed by a longer session on what COP26 was about and what a COP is. Our in-house experts will also be sharing exciting stories of their experiences in the field. Please join us with a COP a' tea!
